

June 4, 2010

To: Dr. Catherine Fulford
Department Chair, Educational Technology
2540 Maile Way Spalding 354
Honolulu, HI 96822

From: Deborah M. (Forrester) Morris, M. Ed.
950 King Arthur Drive
Midlothian, Texas 76065

Re: Letter of Academic Reference - Adam Halemano

Dr. Fulford,

I am pleased to provide a letter of academic reference for Adam Halemano. Adam was a learner in my January 2010 class of CMP 540 – Integrating Technology in the Classroom. During twenty years of experience as an educator, I have rarely been privileged to instruct learners such as Adam.

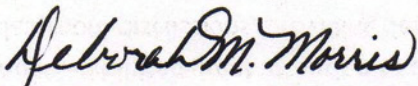

Adam exhibited great attention to detail in all of his graduate work. He was an active participant in all classroom discussions, providing depth and insight well beyond that of his classmates, and continually advancing the quality of our discourse. His interaction in his learning team was always professional, respectful, motivating, and congenial.

Adam's assignment submissions were exceptional. He possesses excellent writing skills, and his logical thought processes far surpass those of most graduate students. His writing was always clear and concise, following a logical progression and providing in depth coverage of assigned topics.

Adam also submitted outstanding technology based projects. He clearly acquired proficiency with the technology applications we utilized and successfully transferred that knowledge to construct exceptional products. His final project showed an advanced knowledge of multimedia applications and superior application of these skills to an instructional setting.

Adam possesses a high degree of self motivation, as evidenced by his consistent commitment to quality interaction and attention to detail despite being employed full time. Adam is the epitome of the graduate level learner, and it is with great confidence that I recommend him for admission to the University of Hawaii Educational Technology Program.

Regards,

Deborah M. (Forrester) Morris, M.Ed. Instructional Design and Technology

University of Phoenix Faculty